02 | Our Services

Industrial Sewing Machine Parts Supply

Supply and sourcing support for selected industrial bag-closing sewing machine parts and components, including parts for Newlong, Union Special and Fischbein equipment.

Spare Parts Sourcing and Distribution

Support with enquiries, part-number checks and sourcing based on equipment specifications, supplier availability and customer requirements.

Flour Mill and Packaging Support

Parts supply support for flour mills, woven-bag packaging operations, bag manufacturers and businesses using industrial bag-closing equipment.

Parts Identification and Technical Assistance

Product-related guidance to help customers identify components, confirm machine details and submit clear enquiries for suitable replacement parts.

Industrial Machinery Components

Sourcing enquiries for selected machinery components and related industrial products used in manufacturing, processing and packaging.

B2B Procurement Support

Coordination with procurement teams, maintenance personnel, production managers, distributors and business owners to support industrial parts requirements.

How to Request a Quotation

- Share the machine brand and model.
- Provide the part number, if available.
- Attach clear photographs, drawings or technical specifications where possible.
- State the required quantity and delivery location.
- We will review the enquiry and respond with availability and quotation details, subject to confirmation.

Our Supply Approach

We work from customer-provided model details, part references, photographs and technical information to assess requirements and confirm suitable sourcing options where possible. Availability, compatibility, pricing and lead times are confirmed as part of the quotation process.

Service scope note: On-site repairs, installation and full maintenance services should be represented as available only where directly provided by the company or arranged through a confirmed service partner.

03 | Brands, Strengths & Partnerships

Equipment Brands

Our industrial sewing machine parts sourcing experience includes selected components for Newlong, Union Special and Fischbein equipment. Brand names are used to identify relevant equipment and parts; their mention does not, by itself, imply manufacturer authorization or ownership.

04 | Company Organogram

Proposed lean organisational structure for the company's current scale and future growth. The Managing Director / CEO leads the business and coordinates the functions shown below.

Implementation note: The chart shows functional responsibilities, not a claim that every role is currently occupied by a separate employee. At the present stage, the Managing Director / CEO may carry out several functions directly, with specialist tasks such as accounting, technical work, logistics or IT support assigned to external service providers when required.

Key Responsibilities

Managing Director / CEO: Business strategy, key customer relationships, supplier negotiations, approvals, cash-flow oversight and performance reviews.

Sales & Customer Relations: Customer enquiries, quotations, order follow-up and relationship management.

Procurement & International Sourcing: Supplier communication, sourcing requests, availability checks and purchase coordination.

Product / Technical Parts Identification: Part-number and model checks, specification review and product enquiry support.

Finance & Administration: Invoicing, payment records, documentation, compliance coordination and administrative controls.

Logistics & Delivery Coordination: Dispatch arrangements, shipment tracking and delivery communication.

External Support as Required: Accountant, technician, legal adviser, web/IT support or other specialists when needed.

Recommended management practice

Maintain clear records for every customer enquiry, quotation, purchase, sale, delivery and payment. Review outstanding orders, customer balances, supplier commitments and cash flow monthly. As turnover grows, consider assigning sales/customer service, procurement and finance/admin responsibilities to dedicated personnel.
